

Aboriginal Community Initiatives- White Wolf Speaking

Sexuality Education Resource Centre (SERC) is a community-based, non-profit, pro-choice organization.

Our mission: Promoting sexual health through education.

Our Vision: A diverse society that celebrates healthy sexuality throughout life.

Aboriginal Community Initiatives - White Wolf Speaking serves to support SERC's capacity to develop, design and deliver culturally appropriate sexuality and reproductive health (SRH) education and services, through consultation and partnerships with the Aboriginal community.

White Wolf Speaking is committed to promoting greater community understanding of sexual and reproductive health issues affecting the Aboriginal population, and to present culturally appropriate health education in ways that are receptive to the Aboriginal community, particularly Aboriginal women and girls involved and exploited in the sex trade and Aboriginal youth.

Aboriginal Community Initiatives - White Wolf Speaking:

- promotes ongoing development and delivery of services supporting a vision and framework for holistic community wellness
- endorses the continued development of strong community partnerships, working mutually to strengthen community-based programs
- provides culturally appropriate program design and development
- offers respectful community consultation and educational program delivery that is reflective of community needs
- accepts and welcomes those who are two-spirit/transgender/gay/lesbian/bisexual.

White Wolf Speaking is Aboriginal community-led and guided by the White Wolf Speaking Council comprised of Elders, cultural teachers, community capacity builders and other educators from the Aboriginal community. White Wolf Speaking Council provides leadership in the goals and direction of the program.

Through community consultations, networking and working jointly in the development of community based programs and projects, White Wolf Speaking has established a wide network and partnerships with community organizations and continues to grow in those respectful relationships.
